3. The purposes and the legal basis for the processing

The data you provide is voluntary, but is necessary in order to be considered for the position, as the purpose of registration is to create a qualitative, quick and easy way to connect applicants with jobs, and find the best candidate based on an individual assessment of the candidates' competences and qualifications. The purpose of the processing after completing the recruitment process is providing feedback and documenting the recruitment process in the event of any legal claims.

The company recommends that you do not include special categories of personal data in your application or CV but only provides us with data such as name, address, education, former education and other qualifications. The company processes this type of data based on Article 6 (1) (c) and(f)

Special categories of personal data and personal data relating to criminal convictions and offences

The legislation provides special rules for the processing of personal data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, or trade union membership, and the processing of genetic data, biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person, data concerning health or data concerning a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation. Data about criminal offences is a special type of normal data.

The company recommends that you do not include these data in your application or CV. If your application and CV nonetheless contains this type of data, the company processes such data based on the Danish Data Protection Regulation Article 8 (5)cf. Article 7 (1) and Article 9 (2) (f) of the General Data Protection Regulation.

Cpr. Number

The company uses electronic signature via e-boks for signing of employment contracts. If you get the job you may be asked if you have a Danish identification number (cpr number) for this purpose, cf. the Danish Data Protection Regulation Article 11, (2) litra 3. The company also processes your cpr. number if it is provided by you in your CV, diplomas etc., cf. the Danish Data Protection Regulation Article 11, (2) litra 2, cf. Article 7 (1), cf. Article 9 (2)(f) of the General Data Protection Regulation.

Photo

When you are interviewed the company may take a passport photo of you to be able to prepare a ID Card for you. The ID card will be delivered when hired and must always be visible. The photo on the ID card is a security measure to ensure unambiguous identification of the persons moving around in the company's buildings and ensuring that unauthorized persons are not allowed.

4. Recipients of your data

Your data will be treated confidentially and will only be available to employees involved in the recruitment process, i.e. the job manager and the HR employees associated with the job posting. If you get the job, your closest colleagues will be notified of your employment, date of accession, job title, education and previous professional experience, if relevant.

The company will contact you before consulting any of your listed references or you may be asked to provide references with your consent.

Data processor: Our job website has been developed in cooperation with Cornerstone OnDemand Limited, Reg. no. 07143111, 4 Coleman Street, London, EC2R 5AR, United Kingdom in the sense that Cornerstone OnDemand Limited provides the software and stores the data for TDC.

TDC A/S is data processor for TDC Telco ApS, TDC NET A/S, Nuuday A/S, Dansk Kabel TV A/S and TDC Pensionskassen when recruiting.

The company may use different data processors such as suppliers of tests and video applications. You can obtain a list of the current data processors and their contact details by sending an email to hrhelpdesk@tdc.dk. If the company transfer data to a third country you will be informed. If the transfer is based on the standard contractual clauses of the European Commission, a copy of this basis can be obtained on application.

5. Social media

The company does not systematically use social media such as Facebook and LinkedIn but uses the social media when it is relevant to provide information about the candidate's suitability for the job.

If you have published information about yourself online in open profiles, the company may use the information for recruitment purposes as long as the information is legitimate and relevant in the recruitment process, cf. Article 6 (1)(f), Article 9 (2) (e), and Article 5 of the General Data Protection Regulation.

The company can use eg Facebook for job postings. When you visit the company's Facebook page, the company, together with Facebook, is responsible for the processing of personal data associated with Facebook's use of cookies from the site. You can read more about this on the company's Facebook page.

6. Storage and erasure of data

Storage

You can access your data at any time by logging into your profile. Log in using your username and password, click on the arrow to the right of the position you have applied for and select 'Cancel'.

Erasure of data

If you do not get the job and you make no changes to your profile, your CV and application will be deleted no later than six months after the date of refusal.

However, you can delete the data at any time prior to this by logging into your profile. Log in using your username and password, click on the arrow to the right of the position you have applied for and select 'Cancel'.

The company will store personal data about candidates, that are employed, for up to five years after employment has ended.

7. Your rights

According to the General Data Protection Regulation as an applicant, you have a wide range of rights as to the company's processing of your information. These rights are listed below:

Right of access by the data subject
